

COBB'S TALK WITH LORD KITCHENER

Creates Sensation On Two Continents.

ENGLISH PRESS REPUDIATES

Cobb's Interview, But Almost Everybody Else Believes the Kentuckian.

KITCHENER DOES NOT DENY IT

Irvin S. Cobb, erstwhile of Paducah and Louisville, now of New York and the world at large, has fallen afoul of the official press bureau of England.

As told in the American papers, Cobb interviewed Lord Kitchener and obtained an interesting lot of statements from the War Lord of England, including one to the effect that the war will last three years at least.

Now the English Press association has issued a statement that "the language is not that of Lord Kitchener, and that his lordship's official representative expresses surprise that it should have been regarded possible that Lord Kitchener used such expressions."

The official press bureau chimes in with the following statement:

"With reference to a so-called interview with Mr. Cobb:

"Although Lord Kitchener saw Mr. Cobb for a few minutes, October 21, nothing in the nature of a special interview was granted, and the remarks attributed to the Secretary of State are imaginary."

Cobb, in answer, says he saw Lord Kitchener through arrangement of a third party for about 40 minutes, that he reproduced his conversation with Kitchener as exactly as he could, and is sure that he quoted him correctly.

Those who know Cobb's work as a reporter in Kentucky feel positive that Lord Kitchener said just the things that Cobb quoted him as saying, and in practically the same words that Cobb used.

It is noticeable that Lord Kitchener does not deny the interview. The British official press bureau takes it upon itself to enter a denial. No doubt the official press bureau is appalled by the fact that an American newspaper man should get an interview with Lord Kitchener contrary to the wishes of the official bureau.

Nothing that Cobb himself has ever written is quite so funny as the surprise of his "lordship's" official representative that it should have been regarded possible that Lord Kitchener used such expressions."

If the matter is referred to Lord Kitchener no doubt that blunt and plain-spoken old soldier will surprise his lordship's official representative still more.

At any rate, Cobb's Kentucky friends feel certain that there is nothing wrong with the interview. The following is, in part, the interview which Lord Kitchener denies having given expression to:

"They (the Germans) are right in one regard," he (Lord Kitchener) said slowly: "it will take longer than a year to end this war. But they are wrong in another regard; they are wrong when they think they are going to win, if indeed in their hearts they honestly think that. They are not going to win."

"Their campaign in the west is a failure. It is a failure already, and it will become more and more a failure as time passes. When an army of invasion ceases to invade, that army has lost its principal function, and has failed in its principal object. When that army hides itself in trenches, and fights at long range, it is doing nothing except waste itself; and especially is that true when that army, having reached its minimum of three years, I think six months before, is now losing in all those essentials."

"This war is going on until Germany is defeated. There is no other contingency."

"Lord Kitchener," I (Cobb) asked, "in your opinion how long will this war last?"

"Not less than three years," he said, "It will end only when Germany is thoroughly defeated, not before—defeated on land and sea. That the allies will win is certain."

That for us to win will require a minimum of three years I think probable. It might last longer—this war might. It might end sooner. It can end in only one way.

"That it will end in a month from now or six months or a year, I do not think likely; so, to be on the safe side, I say three years—at least three years."

"He said three years! And at the time of speaking the war was a few days less than three months old."

Three months—the seas already empty of commerce, and the lands of half the world shaking to the tread of marching millions who produce nothing and devour everything! Three months—Germany already bleeding to death internally from two great, constant hemorrhages in her sides, and all France in the field, and England raising another million of the primeval manhood in the empire, to be the provender for cannon! Three months now—a year means half of Europe under ground and the other half on crutches!

Two years means a continent turned into a charnel house and a hemisphere ruined for a generation to come! Three months now—and the supreme head of the British forces had just said there would be three years of it, and perhaps, more than three years of it!

I suppose there is only one Kitchener.

I trust I am no emotional hero worshiper, and most certainly I am no soldier and know nothing of soldiering; but if I were a soldier and Kitchener were my commander I believe it would be easy for me, being a soldier, to be a hero worshiper also.

He does not inspire confidence in you—he creates it in you.

SYRIAN WAS ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF ARSON

The Madisonville Hustler of yesterday says:

As a result of the investigations of Assistant State Fire Marshal G. P. Helm, of Danville, who went to Providence Saturday to look into the recent fire originating in Sawaya's store, Horace Sawaya was arrested, charged with arson, and turned over to the authorities at Dixon Sunday afternoon.

The evidence on which Sawaya was arrested is circumstantial but said to be very strong.

The store was run in the name of George Sawaya, said to be a Syrian and his brother, Horace, helped him.

On Thanksgiving night, about 12 o'clock, fire broke out in the Sawaya store, resulting in the stock and building being destroyed, as well as the adjoining store and stock of the R. E. Martin Co., and damage to the buildings and stocks of the Boston Store and Baynham's drug store.

On the night of the fire George Sawaya was out of the city, but returned a day or so afterward and then left ostensibly for Louisville to have his insurance adjusted and had not returned up to Sunday.

It is said that numerous circumstances have been brought to light, all pointing to the fire being of incendiary origin at the hands of Sawaya.

The Webster Circuit Court convenes at Dixon Monday and the case will go at once before the grand jury.

1,000 BRITISH SOLDIERS WILL LOSE FROZEN FEET

London, Dec. 5.—Officers invalided home from the front have informed the press correspondents there are at present about 1,500 British officers and men suffering from frozen feet in the base hospitals in and about Boulogne.

Fully 1,000 of this number must have one or both feet severed, owing to the deadening of the nerves, which makes futile all attempts at treatment. Chilblains and frost-bites have been depleting the ranks worse than bullets and shrapnel, and once a man's foot is frozen, he is through so far as fighting is concerned, for the rest of the war. "From the time I arrived at the front, three weeks ago, until I arrived at the hospital, last night, I have not been warm for one moment," Capt. Ballantyne of the Territorial Battalion of Royal Scouts said to the correspondents at Lady Islington's Hospital in Mayfair today.

Many a fellow never realizes what a large following he has till the bill collectors get after him.

HEART WAS STILL; DEAD 10 MINUTES

But Was Brought To Life Again.

MODERN MIRACLE PERFORMED

Heart. Was Manipulated By Surgeon and Set To Normal Action.

CREDITED BY NOTED DOCTOR

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 5.—According to three reputable surgeons of Los Angeles—Drs. P. M. Williams, C. S. Hutchinson and W. S. Holman—a most modern marvel in medical science was witnessed at Good Samaritan Hospital to-day in the restoration to life of Mrs. Walter W. Akers after she had been "dead" for at least 10 minutes.

"The raising" was not from a theoretical death or a state of coma," said Dr. Williams.

"Mrs. Akers was actually dead. Her heart had ceased its functions and there was no pulse and her eyes were fixed in the stare that to every medical man spells the eternal sleep."

"The end came during a major operation for laparotomy. Dr. Holman, who was administering the anesthetic, was first to notice dissolution."

"Mr. Akers, who was waiting in an adjoining room, was summoned and realized all was over, when seemingly by intuition I began to get busy."

"I worked hard to produce artificial respiration by the usual methods, but failed. Then Dr. Hutchinson slowly inserted his finger through the incision made in the abdominal wall during the course of the operation until the diaphragm was reached."

"With one finger on top of the heart, his thumb on the bottom, he made a slight compression, then another and another until his hand was contracting and dilating the organ of life in simulation of heart throbs."

"He was rewarded in a moment by an expansion of the heart, and then, as the organ gradually grew stronger in its beats, blood began to flow through the arteries."

"He intensified this with oxygen and other artificial respiration, and after a few moments of this treatment the lungs reluctantly took up their burden."

"The patient rallied wonderfully fast, and within 15 minutes another anesthetic was administered in order to complete the first operation."

"Mrs. Akers is now resting well, and I believe is on the road to recovery."

Dr. Hutchinson later said the operations lasted two hours, and were just as described by Dr. Williams.

A complete record of the case is now being prepared for medical journals.

Noted Doctor's Views.

The Chicago Herald, in commenting on the above case, gives the views of a noted physician and surgeon of its city and says:

Dr. John B. Murphy declared last night that the statement of the Los Angeles surgeon was entirely credible. He said that the method of restoring heart action used by them was known and had been practiced successfully by men in the medical profession.

"It is entirely probable that the operation of restoring life to the patient after she had apparently succumbed was gone through with successfully," he said. "It is a method which is not unusual among surgeons. Heart action is sometimes stimulated by kneading or massaging through the abdominal wall. Whether it is successful depends upon the condition of the organ. There is no reason to discredit the statement."

INVESTIGATION OF "POSSUM HUNTER"

Cases Was Conducted At Greenville.

COURT OF INQUIRY WAS HELD

It Is Alleged That Fear Prevents Lawless Acts From Being Disclosed.

SITUATION NOW WELL IN HAND

Greenville, Ky., Dec. 5.—In County Court to-day before Judge Rice, the examining trials of Ellis Alexander, W. Y. Brewer and Bill Maddox, the last named a negro, were held, and all were bound over to the grand jury. They were charged with administering a whipping to a negro man and two negro women with whom the man was boarding, on the night of October 20. Each of them sought to prove an alibi, which the court rejected. Two of them, Brewer and Maddox, executed bond in the sum of $500 and were released, while Alexander languishes in jail.

Jesse Gibson also is in jail awaiting an examining trial on a similar charge on a warrant sworn out by Ellis Alexander. His hearing will be held Tuesday.

Local authorities are pleased over the situation just now, and say they hope to have the situation in hand shortly.

In investigating recent "Possum Hunter" outrages in Muhlenberg county a Court of Inquiry was yesterday held before Judge J. J. Rice.

County Attorney W. H. Gray summoned David Duncan, who is vice president of the United Mine Workers, District 23, before the court to testify as to the whipping that Frank Lee, a miner, had received at the hands of alleged "Possum Hunters" on the night of November 4, 1914. It developed that the whipping was administered by a band of about fifteen or twenty armed and masked men in a meeting of Woodson Local Union, United Mine Workers, at Hillside, and that Duncan was present.

Duncan, who is also a candidate for re-election to the office of vice president of District 23, together with Robert Pollock, both of Central City, and both candidates for that office, were present and both were summoned before Judge Rice to tell what they knew about the whipping. Duncan said that he was present to try to adjust some question about men working in their turn in doing certain entry work at one of the mines. He said that the U. M. W. of A. had a rule concerning that kind of work. He admitted that Lee, who was whipped, had violated that rule, and Pollock, the other witness, said that he knew that Lee was being whipped for that violation.

When asked why he and Pollock and the other twenty members of the union present did not protest at the cruel beating of one of their men in their presence, they said that they were afraid to protest. When asked why they did not then, or afterward, notify the county officials of the crime, they assigned the same reason. They each admitted that they thought the present conduct, if persisted in, would disrupt the United Mine Workers and organized labor in general in Muhlenberg county. County Attorney Gray then insisted that he had been endeavoring to enlist the aid of the officers of the United Mine Workers in breaking up the lawlessness without avail.

Mr. Duncan was also asked by Judge Rice if there were any differences between the miners and the operators which had not been adjusted by the representatives of those organizations satisfactorily and he said there were not and that the miners through their representatives could adjust any and all differences that might arise. He was then asked to assign any reason why the present conditions or lawlessness exist in Muhlenberg county, and he said he could not.

It is known that quite a number of the persons who have been beaten in this county have been miners who say that they were beaten on account of having violated some alleged rule of the miners' various local organizations, and that being true, the officers of the law believe that the officers of the organizations should assist in quelling the trouble.

A few nights ago a young man by the name of Finn, of Bowling Green, who had been employed by the Lam Coal Company, at Bevier, was waited on at his boarding-house by a band of outlaws and unmercifully beaten and told to return to Bowling Green and seek employment. Warrants were issued a few days ago for persons charged with having beaten another person because he had violated some rule of the miners' organization at Drakesboro.

SACRAMENTO VISITED BY DESTRUCTIVE FIRE

Sacramento, a little town of some 600 souls in McLean county, was visited by one of the most disastrous fires in its history, early on Thursday morning, when almost a block of business houses were wiped out by the flames. The damage done by the fire was placed at from $23,000 to $25,000 with only $7,000 insurance.

The places destroyed and their owners were:

L. E. Neal, general merchandise store, drugstore, stable and garage; loss estimated at $16,000.

E. Barnett, general store; loss, $5,000.

A. Ross, dry goods store and butcher shop; loss, $1,500.

J. T. Mason, saddlery; loss, $1,000.

The fire was discovered between 1 and 2 o'clock Thursday morning. L. E. Neal and C. B. Franklin, a druggist, who were asleep over the drug store, had a narrow escape from death. Franklin was awakened when he was choked by the smoke. He awoke around in the room until he awoke Mr. Neal. The men left exhausted when they reached safety.

A defective flue was assigned as the cause of the fire, which started in the general merchandise store of Mr. Neal.

Sacramento has been extremely unfortunate in regard to fires. Several years ago a number of business houses were destroyed by a disastrous conflagration.

Mr. Neal, the heaviest loser, stated that he carried $4,000 insurance on his property, while Mr. Barnett carried $3,000. Messrs. Ross and Mason did not carry any insurance.

GOOD CHEER MESSAGES "NO GO" ON RELIEF PACKS

New York, Dec. 7.—Not even the words, "Merry Christmas" may be written on packages of supplies sent to the starving Belgians.

The American commission for relief in Belgium announced that the placing by donors of an inscription of any sort inside or outside the package, might subject the entire consignment to confiscation by officials suspicious of a military code message.

In one case which has come to the commission's notice, a shipload of goods bound for Genoa—not, however, one of the relief ships—was held up a month because of a single word printed on a bag—"Dantsig."

The prohibition extends to expressions of sympathy and even initials of senders. Private marks or tags are equally objectionable. The neutrality conditions under which goods go from Rotterdam into Belgium are that positively no mark or message of any description be permitted to which German officials could object.

ARMY IS SEEKING LARGER AMOUNTS

Proposed Military Bill Will Call for

$104,000,000 FOR NEXT YEAR

Secretary of War and Quartermaster General Before House Committee.

HEARING BEFORE COMMITTEE

Washington, Dec. 5.—Hearings were begun before the House Military Affairs Committee to-day in connection with the military appropriation bill which it is drafted for presentation to Congress at the coming session, with Secretary Garrison and Quartermaster General Aleshaire on the list of witnesses to testify. They had been invited to give their views as to the needs of the military establishment of the Government during the coming year.

Official estimates of the army call for an appropriation of $104,124,512, including militia, as against $101,019,212 appropriated last year. Appropriations made last year which are not asked for in the proposed bill include $100,000 for equipment of coast artillery armories, $50,000 for the Washington-Alaska military telegraph and cable system and $12,000 for signaling equipment for coast artillery posts.

The ordnance service, which last year received $300,000, would get $325,000 under to-day's estimates, with the addition of a new provision to include in this amount the purchase, maintenance, repair and operation of motor-propelled or horse-drawn passenger-carrying vehicles. The $100,000 proposed for manufacture "and purchase" of ammunition for small arms for reserve supply, cut down from the $125,000 appropriated last year, includes $5,000 for "purchase of ammunition for purposes of experiment."

The appropriation for small arms target practice is increased from $750,000 to $825,000. The $450,000 appropriated for manufacture of arms is changed this year to a proposed $225,000 for manufacturing, "procuring" and issuing of arms at the national armories, with a proviso that "existing written agreements involving the purchase of patented articles, patents for which have not expired, may be carried out."

The $700,000 appropriated last year for overhauling, cleaning, repairing and preserving ordnance and ordnance stores in the hands of troops and at the arsenal posts and depots, for the purchase and manufacture of ordnance stores, for infantry, cavalry and artillery equipments, including horses, is raised now to $1,102,629.

Among other estimates is a $200,000 appropriation for care of horses and material for militia field artillery.

ILLINOIS TWINS ARE BORN 35 DAYS APART

Mendota, Ill., December 4.—Thought to be without precedent is the remarkable case of Mrs. A. M. Snyder, of Mendota, who gave birth to children five weeks apart.

The first baby, a five-pound boy, was born the latter part of October. The second child, born this week, weighed seven pounds, and is also a boy.

Ordinarily, when twins are born on separate days, one or the other dies soon after birth. In this instance both infants are in good health and give promise of surviving.

Surgeons say there is no case on record which approaches this.

NOT SIMILAR TO NAPOLEON'S WARS

Are Present Conflicts In Europe.

AEROPLANE MASTER OF FIELD

Its All-Seeing Eye Is a Constant Check On the Strategy Of War.

MERE BATTLE OF RESISTANCE

It is often stated that Gen. Joffre, the commander-in-chief of the Allies, belongs to Napoleon's school. Nothing could be further from the Napoleonic wars than the gigantic struggle on the Marne, the Aisne and in Belgium. In tactical interest they do not compare with the battles of a century ago. The aeroplane is responsible. From on high it sees everything. Nothing is hidden. It peers behind the screen of cavalry masking the enemy's front, it sees troops on the march or being carried in train, it counts the army corps, the kind of arms, and all the main details of the vast war machine.

Thus the art of war has been robbed of that element of surprise which afforded Napoleon dramatic opportunity for the display of his genius. His object was to discover the weak spot in the enemy's lines, and, having discovered it, hurl upon it all the forces at his command. His success depended upon the speed and sureness with which the great blow could be struck. A premature revelation would have spoiled all. But a coup of that sort is no longer possible, for a maneuver on the one side is met, instantly, by a maneuver on the other. War now consists in a series of parallel movements; its art has changed. It would be scarcely an exaggeration to say that it does not exist. The two armies turn about each other like boxers in the preliminary phases of a fight. They pivot clumsily to catch each other at a disadvantage, and that is practically all the art of it.

The rest is a ding-dong battle of resistance, of marching and counter-marching. Anything less like Napoleon's way of making war it would be difficult to imagine. It is like playing bridge with your opponent looking over your shoulder. He knows when you are finessing and when you are playing for an opening. In those conditions, how is it possible to gain a brilliant victory by great crushing blows, having calculated the "psychological moment?" This is as far from present realities as Napoleon's canter on his white horse along the line on the eve of battle on a visit to the outposts. You could not imagine Joffre cantering from Dunkirk to Beifort before breakfast at the moment of beginning the battle which lasts weeks and not merely a single day.

Thus all the conditions of warfare have changed, and with them the mentality and methods of commanders. Joffre is rarely seen on horseback; but he has much the figure of the Corsican—short and stout and giving an impression of power. He spends a part of each day in a long, low, rapid motor car, visiting the lines. It is impossible to visit all the points—much must be left to the corps commanders after the general plan is settled; this robs a generalissimo of personal contact with his troops; he is more or less unknown to them, and Joffre probably has to show papers to his sentries. He wears out two chauffeurs a day in his rush from point to point.

But beyond that Joffre must hold the wires in this tremendous system. You have to imagine him passing long hours in an unpretentious room with a receiver to his ear. His assistant generals bend over maps and examine attentively the line of country; but Joffre has no need of that—rivers, mountains, valleys are engraved deeply in his brain. His chief characteristic is calmness. He is as calm in war as in peace. And that quality has bred confidence. He has confidence in himself, and has given confidence to others.

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A FAMILIAR CITIZEN

We know a man in our neighborhood that we call a good citizen. He has never set the world on fire and has traveled about but little, and is hardly known outside the confines of his town. His name does not often appear in print and he has never stood forth and bowed to the applause of a crowd of admirers. But when a neighbor is sick this man drops around to ask if there is anything he can do. If a public enterprise is on, he always contributes liberally and in keeping with his position and income. When a friend is laid away to the dreamless sleep, he always goes to drop a final tear on the bier, and as he walks slowly home after the last rites he always manages to say a good word about the departed. He is fair and decent and honest in his business relations. He knows that he is simply a private and he does not try to wear the gold buttons of a colonel and shout himself hoarse giving orders. We say such a citizen is worth a thousand of the fourflushers who wear a red sash and howl while the crowd is about and then slink away when the shadows begin to lengthen and the people have disappeared.

HELP OF AMERICA TO FEED BELGIANS

Is Refused By Holland
Government.

ASSERTS HONOR COMPELS HER

To Provide For the 300,000
Refugees and 45,000
Interned Soldiers.

ANTWERP GLAD TO GET HELP

The Hague, Dec. 4.—The Dutch Government has declined all offers of financial aid for Belgian refugees in Holland, which were recently unofficially offered by an American charity.

While deeply appreciative of the generous proposal, the Government says it feels that it would be incompatible with the country's honor to allow another nation or individual association to assist in this mercy work, and that Holland desires to provide for all her neighbors who come to her.

Of the million Belgian refugees who fled into Holland at the beginning of the war, 300,000 penniless ones remain. One-half of these are living in the two southern provinces of Brabant and Zealand. The remainder are divided among 800 communities.

Winter is approaching, and these refugees are now being gathered together in specially constructed camps, situated on the dunes of Heath and at other healthful spots. For this purpose a special budget of about $1,500,000 has been passed, to cover the expenses until January. After that a further credit of $3,000,000 will be given.

The gravest task in store for the authorities is the rounding up and concentrating of former inmates of Belgian prisons, who were liberated wholesale by the Belgian authorities before the arrival of the Germans, and now are considered a public menace.

In addition to the refugees there are 45,000 Belgian soldiers who crossed the border into Holland and were interned. These men also are being supported in special camps.

The expense for their maintenance eventually will be paid by the Belgian Government, according to international law.

U. S. Help Desired By Antwerp.
Berlin, Dec. 4.—The following official statement was made to-day:

"American and English papers report that the Military Governor of Antwerp declared that American relief work in Belgium was superfluous. This is erroneous. The Governor's aide-de-camp stated to an interviewer that American help in feeding the Belgians was very desirable."

Misplaced One.

A school superintendent was trying to make clear to his class the fundamental doctrines of the Declaration of Independence.

"Now, boys," he said, "I will give you each three ordinary buttons. Here they are. You must think of the first one as representing life, of the second as representing liberty, and the third one as representing the pursuit of happiness. Next Sunday I will ask you each to produce the three buttons and tell me what they represent."

The following Sunday the teacher said to the youngest member:

"Now, Johnny, produce your three buttons, and tell me what they stand for."

"I ain't got 'em all," he sobbed, holding out two of the buttons. "Here's life and liberty, but mother sewed the pursuit of happiness on my pants."

DECEMBER.

The name of December is no longer appropriate, for it is derived from "decem," the Latin word, meaning "ten." The name was first applied by the Romans, when the year was divided into ten months, with the addition of supplementary days to complete the period required for a revolution of the earth round the sun. When the calendar of Romulus was amended in 713 B. C. by Numa Pompilius, and the year was divided into twelve months, December became the twelfth month, but retained its original name.

The Emperor Commodus, who reigned in the second century, attempted to change the name to Amazonius, in honor of a fair favorite of that name, whom he had painted to resemble an Amazon. This innovation was not popular, and when Commodus died, from poison administered by another feminine favorite, the name of Amazonius died with him.

The ancient Saxons called the last month winter-monat, which was afterward changed to Heigh-monat, or holy month, when they were converted to Christianity. The modern Germans again changed the name to Christmonat, because the month contains the anniversary of the birth of Christ.

A Warning To Boys.

Three years ago, after witnessing a moving picture performance in which Indians figured actively, a number of boys at Frankfort, Ky., attempted to reproduce the scenes. O'RearEversole, who was to take the role of pioneer white man, was tied to a stake and leaves were piled about him and set on fire. Before he could be rescued the lad was so badly burned that he lost the sight of both eyes and later became insane. He died a few days ago after a long period of suffering.

POOR AT HOME SHOULD ALSO BE REMEMBERED

Without the slightest wish to curtail aid to the poor and distressed of any foreign country, we think it but right to remind the benevolent people of the United States that there are many thousands of persons in our own country who are in need of all that goes to sustain life—many thousands suffering for clothing, for fuel and for food.

It rightly arouses the utmost sympathy in the hearts of the charitable to read of the refugees from the theater of warfare, left without shelter, seeking new homes in the cities of countries foreign to them; but the fact that in our own land, in our own industrial districts, towns and cities, every week finds thousands of helpless men, women and children without the means to provide the very essentials and necessities of life, should not be overlooked when the blessed hands of the givers are ready to provide relief.

Those among us who are so nobly active for the sufferers in foreign lands, we hope will not forget nor overlook the poor and distressed of our own, and, while their gentle deeds of mercy carry hope and comfort to the hearts of the friendless, the fatherless and the widows across the sea, we trust that their joy in giving will grow all the more exquisitely sweet through their generous provisions for the poor of our own republic.—[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

KENTUCKY MEN'S VALIANT STAND

During Dark Days Of the Civil War.

DECLINED TO ACCEPT TERMS

Of Release, Although They Were Suffering Much Of War's Misery.

A SAMPLE OF HEROIC VALOR

(By Col. E. Polk Johnson.)

December 28, 1863, Gen. Joseph Wheeler with 600 cavalry, including a detachment from the First Kentucky regiment, attacked a Federal force of 4,500 Federal infantry, a regiment of cavalry and the usual accompaniment of artillery at Charleston, East Tennessee. An unusual result followed in the prompt defeat of the Confederate force, a number of whom were killed, wounded or captured. It was the misfortune of the writer to appear on both the wounded and captured list. The following members of the First Kentucky Cavalry were among the prisoners of war, their names being given for a reason which will appear later in this article: S. H. Moberly, David Harrison and J. W. Mosely, of Company A; E. Polk Johnson, John Vincent and John P. Winchester, of Company B; W. H. Condor, Samuel Z. Herndon and Lyman Suter, of Company C; Lieut. Barney Logsdon, C. R. Grafton, John R. Barber and E. D. Merrifield, of Company D, and George T. Delaney, of Company G.

The succeeding report of their experience is from the "History of the Orphan Brigade," by Capt. Ed Porter Thompson, to which brigade the First Kentucky Cavalry bears the highly-prized relation of an adopted child. The history says of the above named prisoners and their fellow-sufferers from other commands:

"They were marched to London, on the Little Tennessee river, about thirty miles distant, where on the ever-to-be-remembered 'Cold New Year,' January 1, 1864, they were ordered on board an open boat, without fire, to make the trip to Chattanooga. The intense cold was the more bitterly felt from the circumstance that a few previous days had been warm and for a part of the time somewhat damp, so that there was a degree of physical enervation and unusual susceptibility.

"Poorly clad, fireless, without even a place where they could screen themselves from the wind, their sufferings were almost intolerable. To add to the miseries of at least two of them, Polk Johnson had been badly hurt when his horse was killed and fell upon him, and Sam Moberly had been wounded by a shot. A Tennesseean named Bean froze to death on the night of the 1st and was rudely buried in a deserted rifle pit on shore the next morning. Some of the Kentuckians were frostbitten, but after a slow passage the boat, with its wretched passengers, reached Chattanooga. They were marched to the provost prison, an old warehouse, dirty, infested with vermin, without means of being heated, and occupied by a lot of riff-raff of the Federal army under arrest for almost every conceivable violation of law—a set of wretches who did what they could to add to the horrors of the situation in which the Confederates found themselves. Not long after their arrival the Kentuckians were mustered separately in one of the lower rooms. After forming and dressing line at the command of a Federal officer, they were told that they would be released and furnished transportation to their homes on taking the oath of allegiance to the Federal Government. Those willing to accept the terms were to advance three paces to the front. Not a man stirred from his place. The officer waited for a sign of wavering, but the little line was as steadfast as though an enemy were before them upon which they expected to spring at a word.

"When the Federal officer—apparently a gallant and soldierly man—found that this offer of release, of quick return to loved ones at home, of escape from prison horrors, cold, hunger, heart-sickness, bodily disease—was silently but sternly scorned, he expressed his admiration of their honor and their courage.

"To those who study the significance of individual conduct, history has few better things to show than this. These Kentuckians were yet but boys—most of them less than twenty years old—too young to have given much thought of forming character or classic models. With the story of Curtius rejecting the gold of the Samnites who would have bought his allegiance; of Fabricius, scorned the purchase money of the crafty King and looking unbalanced upon an unusual danger; of Regulus, keeping his word of honor and going back to Carthage, though he knew it meant torture and death—with the blood-stirring story of these men whose fame will last through all time, perhaps no one of them had yet familiarized himself, but their conduct was of the heroic nature and reflects honor upon their names, their regiment and their native State. They were then suffering misery enough to break the spirit of weak men and the temptation to get away from it, to fly to home and kindred and comfort was powerful. Character is not a thing of books, how much soever these may modify it, but the influence of family and community atmosphere acting upon strongly inherited tendencies."

Of those men of the First Kentucky Cavalry so appreciatively referred to by Capt. Thompson, so far as I know, but two are living—John R. Barber, of Springfield, Washington county, and myself. There may be others living of whom I have no knowledge. I do know, however, that all with whom I was most intimately acquainted and associated, have long since "crossed over the river to rest in the shade of the trees." Presently "the muffled drum's sad roll will beat the soldiers' last tattoo" and there will live no longer a Confederate soldier. We made some history in those wonderful four years; history, too, of which we need not be ashamed. When "the warrior's banner took its flight to greet the warrior's soul," it bore upon its silken folds no stain of dishonor. The world has long since recognized this and given us the meed of praise due for duty well performed, and those few who linger still are content with the verdict.

That can be had is from the barn yard and the time to apply it is when the plant is young and tender. A light dressing of this manure at this season of the year doubles the strength of the plant and increases the yield greatly. The only way to do this is by the use of a manure spreader. The John Deere is the most economical spreader built. The beater is built on the axle of the machine and that does away with one hundred and twenty-five extra parts to wear, break and give you trouble, besides makes it the lightest draft machine built. Peruna

Builder
So Says

Mrs. Frank
Stroboe, R. F.
D. 1, Appleton,
Wis. Her letter reads: "I began using Peruna a few months ago when my health and strength were all gone, and I was nothing but a nervous wreck. Could not sleep, eat or rest properly, and felt no desire to live.

"Three bottles of Peruna made me look at life in a different light, as I began to regain my lost strength. While my recovery took nearly four months, at the end of that time I was better than I ever had been before. I had a splendid color and never weighed more in my life.

"I certainly think Peruna is without a rival as a tonic and strength builder, and it has my endorsement."

Mr. Charles Brown, R. R. 4, Box 79, Rogersville, Tenn., writes: "I have tried many different remedies, but have found that Peruna is the greatest tonic on earth, and a perfect system builder."

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Circuit Judge.

We are authorized to announce
JUDGE J. S. GLENN, of Hartford, as a candidate for the nomination for Judge of the Sixth Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic party at the State Primary the first Saturday in August, 1915.

A fellow gets a hint of war when he starts to marry nowadays. There is a fifty-cent war tax on every marriage license.

Congress has resumed business again at the same old stand. It is hardly probable that there will be an extra session after March 4th.

Mr. Henry R. Lawrence, senior editor of the Cadiz Record, has been reappointed as a member of the Board of Prison Commissioners. It was a graceful and commendable act
in Gov. McCreary to do this. Mr.
Lawrence is a worthy and deserving official and well merits this endorsement of his past splendid record.

Secretary Bryan, in explaining to a young woman at one of his speakings why he couldn't let her hug him, said he "didn't know her." Of course this answer looks good to be read in print by his estimable wife, but suppose the hug-hungry young lady had been one of his million or so female acquaintances, wonder what the doughty Secretary would have said?

It is an injustice to the job printing plants of the country (and almost every newspaper has one) for the Government to continue printing the corner "return" cards of business and professional men on stamped envelopes. In this matter the Government has almost a monopoly of an enormous and increasing class of business which should go to the various printing establishments of the country.

It now seems that the Progressive party is not dead but was merely struck dumb for a few weeks after the recent election. At a meeting of the national leaders of the Moose party in Chicago last week, ninety-one Progressive representatives from thirty-four States were present and measures were entered into to continue the party in action. Amalgamation with either of the old parties
was not mentioned.

The most of the stir about alleged "possum hunters" in Muhlenberg and adjoining counties has been gotten up by the correspondents and reporters for daily newspapers. Special reporters have been sent into the trouble districts who, of course, must "write something" for salary's sake, if nothing else. Correspondents of the dailies take a notion to rehash old rumors and occurrences every few weeks—as has been done lately. There have been a number of unlawful outbreaks, but most of this sort of "news" is badly exaggerated.

A newspaper, in the main, is an institution of names and places. It is a record of current history, more or less important in its news columns, but it is always important to give the names of people and the names of the place with which their names are connected. An account of any event is of no value to a newspaper unless it is stated where this event occurred or culminated, and when. The time, names and place constitute the basis of every story. These facts should be kept in mind by all persons contributing to newspapers.

It seems a shame that the movement to market the tobacco raised in this immediate section right here at Hartford, should go down just because of lack of interest among the tobacco raisers themselves and the business men of Hartford. We are hoping that the plan will yet succeed. It means much to both classes of men, but at the meetings held there have been no merchants present and only a few tobacco raisers. Hartford is a splendid place to market a large lot of tobacco, if the raisers will only list their crops
and a buyer be notified.

CAN TARIFF BE BLAMED FOR THIS STATE OF CASE?

New York, December 7.—More than 100 pickpockets, unable to make a living by following their vocation, have turned temporarily honest within the last two months and have sought work, according to records made public by the Department of Correction.

"Old-time pickpockets tell us,"
said Deputy Commissioner Lewis,
"that by rifling 50 or 60 pockets a day they can make only $15 or so a week. They used to be able to retire for a month after picking half a dozen pockets. Folks haven't been carrying money in their clothes recently.

"Some of the pickpockets have turned gunmen. This may account in part for the so-called crime wave.
If the situation continues all the pickpockets in the city will go out of business."

OWENSBORO'S CHIEF OF POLICE DIES SUDDENLY

W. I. Short, chief of police of Owensboro, and for four years sheriff of Daviess county, died suddenly as the result of a hemorrhage of the brain shortly before 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon, after he had been removed to the city hospital.

The physicians stated that Mr.
Short's death was occasioned by the breaking of a blood vessel on the brain. A few weeks ago he remarked to a friend that he had been informed by his physician that he had Bright's disease and that he feared he would not live very long. His health had been very bad for the last year.

FIVE HUNDRED CASES ON THE COURT DOCKET

But Most Of Them "Old British-ers"—Law Docket At Lowest Ebb.

The Owensboro Messenger of Sunday says:

Circuit Court will be convened in Owensboro on Monday morning for a four-weeks term of civil business.
It has not been many weeks since the close of the September term, but there have been filed since then sufficient new business to give Judge Birkhead much to do. Fifty-nine equity and twenty-one common law actions have been added to the docket since the last term closed. Of the equity cases, twenty-one are by persons seeking divorces for various causes.

With the addition of the eighty new actions, the two dockets of the circuit court now contain exactly 500 law suits. There were on the docket at the close of the last term 225 equity references and ninety-five continued law actions. Of the large number of equity cases, many of them are for settlements of decedents' estates, and will necessarily remain on the docket for years for settlement. The law docket is down to almost its lowest ebb, and at the conclusion of the term opening Monday, will likely be cleared up, with the exception of the "Old British-ers."

WORLD MUST FEED BELGIAN VICTIMS

Nation Surrounded By Ring Of Steel.

MOST DESPERATE CONDITIONS

Prevail and Says Cannot Describe Plight Without Appearing Hysterical.

PRESENTS A NATIONAL PUZZLE

London, Dec. 4.—Mr. Herbert Clark Hoover, chairman of the American Commission for Relief in Belgium, returned to London to-day after a week's trip of inspection in Belgium. Mr. Hoover reported that the distribution of foodstuffs sent in care of the American Commission is well under way, but stated the condition of the famine
which threatened the population,
still is desperate, and that on account of the attitude of the belligerents the Belgians must still appeal to the people of the United States for relief.

"It is difficult to state the position of the civil population of Belgium without appearing hysterical," said Mr. Hoover in his statement. "I do not know that history presents
any parallel of a population of 7-000,000 people surrounded by a ring of steel and utterly unable by any conceivable effort of their own to save themselves.

"From the nature of things it is impossible for the commission even to possess an opinion on the rights and wrongs which have created this situation. The Germans state flatly that the people of Belgium are normally dependent on the importation of foodstuffs for five-sixths of their subsistence, that the Germans have not the slightest objection to the Belgians or any one else importing foodstuffs into Belgium, that it is not the Germans who have blocked the overseas supply, and that there is no obligation upon them to feed
the civil population, which could,
through the normal course of trade, obtain subsistence. The Allies, on the other hand, contend that a free port for the exportation of foodstuffs into Belgium would practically amount to an entrapment for food supplies for the Germans. It is enough for us that there are 7,000,000 people ground between two gigantic millstones.

"We are meeting with no obstruction from the military authorities of Belgium in the prosecution of our move. Not one loaf of bread of one spoonful of salt that we have introduced has been taken by the military. The most stringent orders have been given that we shall have no interference, and our members meet with respect and assistance in all quarters.

"There are considerable quantities of vegetables available in certain districts. In some localities there is still a supply of cereals for two or three weeks, but in certain other localities there has been no bread available for over a fortnight.
Every soul will be dependent upon us for bread within thirty days.

"So far our efforts have necessarily been devoted to provisioning the larger centers. It requires organization and patience to be able to penetrate the outlying towns and villages. It will be difficult for the people of the United States to comprehend the difficulties which we meet with in purely executive matters in the elaboration of this work.

"The clock has absolutely stopped in Belgium. An industrial country which was dependent on the overseas before is now walled up, with 70 per cent. of the people idle. There are no telegraphs, telephones, railways or post-offices except for military purposes. The Belgians, of a military necessity, are not allowed to pass from their own towns and consequently there is no communication throughout the country except by personal visits of our own members.

"There are no courts and the prisons have been emptied, but the gen-darmes have remained at their posts and are themselves both policemen and judges. The people are most law-abiding. The central and provincial governments have disappeared. The city and communal governments, however, still exist and through them the distribution of food being arranged. The Belgians are applying themselves with the most extraordinary devotion to the perfection of this organization and if we lacked any other inspiration for exertion in our part of the labor to save these people, sufficient lies in this devoted work of the rich and the poor, a veritable democracy of famine which is working day and night to perform its part.

"The details of the method is that after investigation by the communal authorities food tickets are issued indicating the number and amount of rations to which the holder is entitled, and twice daily this ticket is presented by the holder to the food canteens for its quota and is duly punched. The ration consists of bread, soup containing potatoes, together with a little coffee and salt.

"All those who can afford to pay are compelled to pay the communal authorities at the rate of four cents per diem per ration. The destitute are given tickets gratis. The communal authorities contribute to the Relief Committee one cent per diem per capita on the total tickets issued in their commune, they obtaining this revenue from the tickets sold or by public subscription in the communes through the National Committee under our supervision.
These funds ultimately become available to us for the purpose of food.
Furthermore, the same ration of bread and salt per diem is sold through the bakeries to agreed lists of the more well-to-do population, and as this bread is disposed of at a positive profit, our income has some further increase. Taking it all together, about one-half of the food which we send to Belgium is paid for, so when the American people contribute two shiploads of food
they enable us to buy one more cargo.

"As a type of organization that of Brussels is simply a large example of those in each locality. In that city at present there are fourteen communal kitchens and 137 canteens for adults, and there are sixteen kitchens and thirty-four canteens for children under 3 years of age. For adults food is prepared in the communal kitchens and is distributed to the canteens twice daily.
The kitchens and canteens for babies are maintained as a separate organization in each commune.

"The amount and character of the destitution perhaps may be appreciated from the present position in Brussels. Of the population of 650-000 remaining in the city an average of 218,000 were on the adult canteens and 31,000 babies were on the baby canteens last week, or more than one-third of the total population. Probably no more pitiable sight ever was presented than the long lines of mothers with children in arms waiting their turn at these canteens. In the industrial districts, where the people naturally would have smaller stores on hand than in the capital, a much larger population is now on the communal canteens, in some instances over 60 per cent. of the whole number.

"Brussels consumed 3,000 sacks of flour per diem. There were just 921 sacks of flour in the city when our first shipment of foodstuffs arrived. When I left Brussels yesterday morning there were 15,000
sacks in the city, or about five days' supply. We have about two or three days' supply in Liege and similar supplies in other centers, such as Louvain, Charleroi, Namur and Luxemburg."

THE CHICAGO GLEE CLUB

—COLLEGE HALL TONIGHT

The Chicago Glee Club, one of the most famous amusement aggregations on the Lyceum stage to-day, will appear at the College auditorium to-night. Their great specialties are music and fun. Almost everybody likes that sort of amusement.

THE CHICAGO GLEE CLUB as a male quartet remains unsurpassed. FOR SIXTEEN consecutive seasons it has been constantly before the public.

FOR FOURTEEN consecutive seasons the Club has retained the present personnel.

The Club has filled over 3,600 concert engagements in the United States and Canada. The repertoire of the Glee Club is probably more extensive and varied than that of any similar organization.

THE TROMBONE QUARTET, first introduced to the Lyceum by the Chicago Glee Club and used only by them, is one of the most artistic and pleasing novelties ever presented.

MR. DIXON presents all his character impersonations in make-up. His types are taken from life—wholesome, refreshing, real, never overdrawn or exaggerated. His "Hoosier," an original sketch illustrated with poems by James Whitcomb Riley, and other portrayals are acknowledged to be among the very best bits of characterization on the platform.

Mrs. Mary E. Bell Dead.
Mrs. Mary E. Bell, widow of Jefferson Bell, who preceded her about 50 years, died at the residence of her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hudson, of near Buford, at 6 o'clock last Sunday morning of diseases incident to old age, she being 83 years and one day old.

After funeral services conducted by her pastor, Rev. Lashbrook, at 11 o'clock a. m. Monday, her remains were interred in the Mt. Carmel church cemetery in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends.

WOMAN BORN MUTE, TALKS FIRST TIME ON DEATHBED

Zanesville, O., Dec. 4.—The rarest case of the kind in local medical annals proved a puzzle to physicians to-day when Mrs. Melissa Fouts, of Cannelville, born a mute, was able to talk just before she died.

Her daughter, Mrs. Mary McIntire, nearly fainted when her mother told her how much she was suffering, these few words being the first she had ever uttered. She called her daughter by name several hours later and then passed away. Her husband, who died several years ago, was a mute.

Mrs. Fouts was 70 years old.

The Herald's Special Selections

WHEN THE FROST IS ON THE PUNKIN.

When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock

And you hear the kyooock and gobble of the struttin' turkey-cock

And the cacklin' of the guineys, and the cluckin' of the hens,

And the rooster's hallylooyer as he tiptoes on the fence;

O, it's then the time a feller is a-feelin' at his best,

With the risin' sun to greet him from a night of peaceful rest,

As he leaves the house, bareheaded, and goes out to feed the stock,

When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

There's somethin' kindo' hearty-like about the atmosphere,

When the heat of summer's over and the coolin' fall is here—

Of course we miss the flowers, and the blossoms on the trees,

And the mumble of the hummin' birds and buzzin' of the bees;

But the air's so appetizin', and the landscape through the haze

Of a crisp and sunny morning of the airly summer days

Is a pictur' that no painter has the colorin' to mock—

When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

The husky, rusty rustle of the tassels of the corn,

And the raspin' of the tangled leaves, as golden as the morn;

The stubble in the furries—kindo' lonesome-like, but still

A-preachin' sermons to us of the barns they grewed to fill;

The strawstack in the meadow, and the reaper in the shed;

The hosses in their stalls below—the clover overhead!—

O, it sets my heart a-clickin' like the tickin' of a clock,

When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS IN A FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT

Toledo, O., Dec. 4.—In the enthusiasm following the football game between Scott and Waite High here on Scott Field, more than 200 girls engaged in a demonstration which resulted in a number of them losing hats, having their dresses torn and faces lacerated.

The melee started when a number of girls from Waite School ran upon the gridiron and began singing songs in celebration of their school having trounced their West Side rivals, Scott High. The Waite girls were unaware of the attack, and before they could guard themselves were attacked by more than 100 girls from Scott School. Hair, ribbons, pennants, canes and other decorations began flying in the air. Both sides began pummeling one another. A number of the young men leaders ran to the rescue. They found themselves unwelcome until the lines began to open up and the girls divined the intent of the young men. It was reported the next day that members of the Board of Education would investigate the alleged attack of the girls from Scott School. It was said the members discounted the struggling of the young women as was done at the close of the game.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE RED CROSS SEAL SALES

Few people have any conception of the magnitude of the Red Cross Christmas Seal Campaign. Here are a few figures that will show what a gigantic movement this is. Already 115,000,000 seals have been printed, and practically that entire number distributed to agents in almost every State of the Union. Probably 15,000,000 more will be needed. Advertising circulars, posters, cards, etc., to the number of several million have also been distributed. It is estimated that the army of paid and volunteer workers engaged in selling the seals number well over 100,000. The advertising and publicity donated to the campaign amount to several hundred thousand dollars. Every effort is being put forth to sell 100,000,000 seals, or about one for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Sick Headache.

Sick headache is nearly always caused by disorders of the stomach. Correct them and the periodic attacks of sick headache will disappear. Mrs. John Bishop, of Roseville, Ohio, writes: "About a year ago I was troubled with indigestion and had sick headache that lasted for two or three days at a time. I doctored and tried a number of remedies but nothing helped me until during one of those sick spells a friend advised me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. This medicine relieved me in a short time." For sale by all dealers. (Advertisement.)

"I wonder how many men will be made unhappy when I marry?" said the flirt.

"How many do you expect to marry?" answered her dearest friend.

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill."

I wish every suffering woman would give

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

a trial. I still use Cardui when I feel a little bad, and it always does me good."

Headache, backache, side ache, nervousness, tired, worn-out feelings, etc., are sure signs of womanly trouble. Signs that you need Cardui, the woman's tonic. You cannot make a mistake in trying Cardui for your trouble. It has been helping weak, ailing women for more than fifty years.

Sold Hogs by Telephone

A South Carolina farmer had a large number of hogs which were ready to kill. The weather was so warm that killing was out of the question.

He went to his telephone, called a dealer in Columbia over Long Distance and sold his hogs at a good price. He then called the local freight office and arranged for shipment.

The telephone is now a necessity on the farm. You can have one on your farm at small cost.

TOO MANY CHILDREN

are under-size, under-weight

with pinched faces and poor blood; they do not complain but appetite lags, they have no ambition and do not progress.

Such children need the rich medicinal nourishment in Scott's Emulsion above everything else; its pure cod liver oil contains nature's own blood-forming, flesh-building fats which quickly show in rosy cheeks, better appetite, firm flesh and sturdy frames.

If your children are languid, tired when rising, catch cold easily or find their studies difficult, give them Scott's Emulsion; it supplies the very food elements that their systems lack.

Scott's Emulsion contains no alcohol and is so good for growing children it's a pity to keep it from them.

MILLIONS BEING SPENT TO AID THE BELGIANS

Rockefeller Foundation and Relief Fund Purchase Much Wheat.

The Chicago Herald of Wednesday says:

One million bushels of wheat, representing an expenditure of almost $1,200,000, were purchased in Chicago yesterday by the Rockefeller Foundation and the American relief fund for shipment at once to Belgium. There are 500,000 bushels of the wheat now at Buffalo and the rest will be shipped by rail to New York and Baltimore. The wheat is to be milled in Belgium to feed the war victims.

The Armour Grain Company sold 150,000 bushels and John J. Stream, representing J. C. Shaffer & Co., the rest. Buying of the wheat caused an advance of 1½ cents in the speculative market yesterday.

Four carloads of flour were loaded here yesterday by the Board of Trade Relief Committee for shipment to Belgium. Shipment was made from the B. A. Eckhart Milling Company and the Star and Crescent Mills. The committee had the flour placed in forty-nine-pound sacks so that it can be easily distributed. Each sack is stamped "From the Chicago Board of Trade Relief Committee."

The movement for the relief of the Belgians has spread throughout the West. In Kansas over 100,000 barrels of flour have been given by mills and individuals, the buy-a-barrel-of-flour movement being popular, even in sections where little was expected. Many carloads of wheat, corn and oats also have been given by farmers and others in Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Iowa. Part of this grain already has been started on its way, some going by Galveston and New Orleans.

President George E. Marcy, of the Armour Grain Company, speaking of the purchases of wheat yesterday, said:

"Too much credit cannot be given to the Rockefeller Foundation for the fine work it has done and is doing in the way of furnishing funds and transportation for supplies of all kinds to the war sufferers. It has done an immense work throughout the West, of which little has been said."

Keep It Handy For Rheumatism.

No use to squirm and wince and try to wear out your rheumatism. It will wear you out instead. Apply some Sloan's Liniment. Need not rub it in—just let it penetrate all through the affected parts, relieve the soreness and draw the pain. You get ease at once and feel so much better you want to go right out and tell other sufferers about Sloan's. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for 25 cents of any druggist and have it in the house—against colds, sore and swollen joints, lumbago, sciatica and like ailments. Your money back if not satisfied, but it does give almost instant relief. Buy a bottle to-day.

Physically and Mentally Worn Out—Tells How Nervous and Crying Spells Were Ended by Vinol.

"Monmouth, Ill.—'I was weak, worn-out and nervous. I had no appetite and was getting so thin and discouraged, one day I just broke down and cried when a friend came in and asked me what was the matter. I told of my condition and how nothing I took seemed to do me any good. Vinol was suggested. I got a bottle and before it was half gone I could eat and sleep well. I continued its use and now my friends say I look ten years younger, and I am well, healthy and strong. I wish I could induce every tired-out, worn-out, nervous woman to take Vinol.'"—Mrs. HARRIET GALE, Monmouth, Ill.

There are many over-worked, tired-out, careworn, nervous women in this vicinity who need the strengthening, tissue building and vitalizing effects of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, and so sure are we that it will build them up and make them strong that we offer to return their money if it fails to benefit.

Vinol is a delicious preparation of the extract of cod liver oil and peptonate of iron and contains no oil.

We cannot do without the consumptive Stevensons, the anemic Voltaires, the deaf Beethovens, the hunchback Alexander Pops, the clubfoot Byrons, the helpless Prescotts. A rule that would have deprived Heine of an education would have been costly to the world. Enforced against Alexander H. THIS LITTLE INCIDENT HAPPENED IN ARKANSAS

"Old Lem Harkins, of Possum Trot, had come into the County Judge's office. The Judge said:

"'Why, hello, Lem.'

"'Howdy, Judge.'

"'Anything going on over at Possum Trot?'

"'Nuthin' wuth dividin'."

"'That so?'

"'Yeh; nuthin' wuth dividin'."

Then, after a pause, 'Me an' them Hightowels ain't gettin' along right good for a spell.'

"'No?'

"'Noh; not right good.' After another long expectation-punctured pause the old man leisly continued: 'T'other night about chicken-roostin' time I was a-sittin' in th' house a-readin' uv my Bible when I heahs some shootin' outside. Th' ol' woman was out thah a-feedin' th' chickens. I ain't paid no 'tention to that shootin'."

"'Purty soon th' ol' woman come in, lookin' kind o' pale an' nahvous."

"'What's th' mattah, ol' woman?'

"'A lot o' them Hightowels is out thah a-shootin' at me," she says.

"'Now, I don't like that, Jedge, shootin' 'round about my house an' skeerin' up all them chickens when they orto be a-goin' t' roost, an' maybe killin' a calf or somethin'."

So I lays down my Bible an' I goes ovah in th' connex an' picks up mah Winchester an' I looks out th' window. Thah stands five of them Hightowels outside my fence with their guns. I jes' draps a few bullets among 'em an' 'goes back t' my readin'."

"'Next mornin' I goes out an' looks whah them five Hightowels had been a-standin' and they was all gone but fo'r.'"—[Pittsburg Press.]

TOLD HE'D LIVE TO BE 100, HE TRIES TO DIE

Philadelphia, Dec. 3.—Told by several physicians that barring accidents he would no doubt live to celebrate his one hundredth birthday, Meyer Singer, seventy-three, of No. 320 Monroe street, attempted suicide yesterday by slashing himself several times in the abdomen with a potato knife. Surgeons in the Pennsylvania Hospital say he has small chance of recovery.

Reaching old age and unable to find work, Singer became moody and constantly prayed that he would die. Several weeks ago he started to visit physicians and inquire their opinions concerning his chances of dying soon. His mother passed away in her 102d year, he said, and her father almost reached the century milestone.

The doctors who examined him pronounced him sound and healthy. He complained to his wife that every doctor he saw could find nothing wrong with him and that all predicted he would live to be a hundred.

Yesterday he was found in a room in the synagogue at No. 427 South Fourth street by Theodore Wessler, the janitor, unconscious and bleeding.

A Poor Substitute.

During a financial panic a German farmer went to a bank for some money. He was told that the bank was not paying out money, but was using cashier's checks. He could not understand this and insisted on money.

The officers took him in hand, one after another, with little effect. At last the president tried his hand and after long and minute explanation, some inkling of the situation seemed to be dawning on the farmer's mind. Much encouraged, the president said:

"You understand now how it is, don't you, Mr. Schmidt?'

"I t'nk I do," admitted Mr. Schmidt. "It's like dis, ain't it? Ven my baby wakes up at night and wants some milk I gif him a milk ticket."

Preparing For the New Doctor.

J. E. Anderson will next week fix up an undertaking room in his new location and put in a full line of coffins and caskets. He will also be ready to arrange for conducting funerals and embalming on short notice. We are informed that Tularosa is to have another doctor in the near future.—[Tularosa (N. M.) Tribune.]

A one-sided quarrel is soon ended.

AFTER 33 YEARS IN A CELL, ATTENDS CHAPEL

Boston, Mass., Dec. 4.—Jesse Pomeroy, life prisoner sentenced to solitary confinement in the Charles-town State Prison, attended services in the chapel last Sunday, which was the fifty-fifth anniversary of his birth. It was the first time in thirty-three years that the privilege has been extended to him.

This privilege was granted by action of Gov. David I. Walsh and members of the Executive Council. In his early days at the prison Pomeroy was permitted to go to chapel on Sunday with the other prisoners, but with a change of officials thirty-three years ago came an order forbidding this privilege, chiefly on the ground that the crafty Pomeroy might escape.

The service that morning at 10:30 was conducted by the Rev. W. Bradley Whitney. About 300 prisoners were in the congregation. Pomeroy was one of the most attentive during the sermon and also joined in the singing of the hymns. He appeared to be wholly at ease.

He seemed greatly interested in everything and everybody. He watched the preacher, the prisoners and the many prison officials. After the services he filed out behind the other prisoners. He was taken to his cell on Cherry Hill, where he had dinner.

PRESIDENT WILSON ON THE RED CROSS SEALS

As an expression of his interest in the Red Cross Seals and Anti-Tuberculosis Campaign, President Wilson recently wrote to The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis as follows:

"May I not take this occasion to express to you my deep interest in the work of the National Anti-Tuberculosis Association and my hope that its work is growing in efficiency and extent from year to year? May I not particularly express my interest in the Red Cross Christmas Seal whose sale has been the means of raising funds for the work? It seems to me that this is a particularly interesting and sensible way of enabling the people of the country to give this great work their support."

Honesty is the best policy, especially if you are being closely watched.

CANTRILL TO CALL OUT PROHIBITION MEASURE

Kentuckian Wants An Early Vote On Hobson Bill—Defeat Probable.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Representative J. C. Cantrill, who returned to Washington to-day, announced that he will shortly renew his motion in the House Rules Committee to report for early vote the Hobson resolution on nation-wide prohibition. As the author of the motion, Mr. Cantrill will take charge of the machinery to bring the bill out of committee and when the bill reaches a voting stage in the House, will vote against it.

At the last session of Congress Mr. Cantrill's motion was tied in the Rules Committee because of the opposition of the "drys." These, led by Representative Hobson, opposed Mr. Cantrill because they did not desire a vote in the House at that time. Now they are understood to favor such a vote, and accordingly will support the Kentuckian's motion to bring the measure into the House under a special rule.

The Administration is opposed to the Hobson resolution and expects it certainly to fail of the two-thirds majority necessary to pass it. This is the general expectation, but many believe the Hobson bill will secure a majority in the House. This belief is lent strength by the attitude of Democratic Congressmen in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Illinois, who were defeated for re-election. They charge the liquor interests with having aided the Republican tickets in their States, and say they will revenge themselves by supporting the Hobson resolution.

Whether they carry out their threat or not, indications are for a vote on the troublesome question early this session.

HOPEWELL.

Dec. 7.—Mrs. Nancy Jane Russell died last Sunday morning about 7:30 o'clock and was buried at the Jubilee burying grounds Monday. Religious services were conducted by friends. Mrs. Russell was born October 31, 1836, in Muhlenberg county, Ky. Her maiden name was Penrod. She married Mr. David Russell about the year 1860. She joined the Methodist church at Simon's Chapel when 18 years old, but after marriage went to the Presbyterian church with her husband. She lived a consistent Christian 60 years. She was the mother of eight children, five of whom are living and three dead.

Mr. Joe Brown, his sons Joe and little Marvin were on a load of corn last Tuesday when the little boy fell off. The wheel glanced over his head and shoulder and he was hurt badly but not fatally.

Miss Sue Russell, who has been sick for nearly a year, is very low at this writing.

Mr. Elijah Williams is no better. Our County Superintendent, Mr. Shults, made us a fine talk last Wednesday night on education.

Mrs. Marian Moffett, of Maryland, a sister of Mr. David Russell, was with Mrs. Russell when she died and is visiting relatives and friends here. It has been about 36 years since she was here.

Miss Margaret Taylor is visiting Mrs. E. V. Bennett, of Central City.

OLATON.

Dec. 6.—We are having plenty of rain now. I never knew water so scarce at this time of year.

Mr. Cal P. Keown, of Hartford, was in our town last week, writing insurance and probably feeling how the situation lies for Circuit Court Clerk. Candidates seem to be getting out pretty early, presenting their claims.

Mrs. Paradine Canan and Mrs. Mercedes Duncan and son went to Louisville last Thursday.

Mr. Robert Duff has purchased the G. W. Daniel blacksmith shop and tools. He has moved into what is known as the Dr. Felix house.

Mr. Joseph Miller is still very sick.

We have two things that bring money to our town—the railroad section hands and flouring mill.

Mr. Bob Duff was called to the bedside of his brother, Mr. Otis

Duff, of Sulphur Springs. He has inflammation of the bowels and is in a critical condition.

Mrs. Merrel Grant is reported to be some better. Her husband, Mr. Merrel Grant, is quite ill now.

Every little town ought to have a Christmas tree to provide for the little children that really need help. They tell of foreign missions, but little is said of home missions. Let's help home missions first and then if anything is left, help foreign missions. There are children in Ohio county to-day, when they eat one meal don't know where the next is to come from. We think home children should be remembered first.

BEAVER DAM.

Dec. 7.—Mrs. Agnes Turnley died last Wednesday of pneumonia and other trouble. At the time of her death she was living with her only living daughter, Mrs. Sep Williams, in the Rob Roy neighborhood. She was 84 years old and had outlived all her family except Mrs. Williams. Her remains were taken to Dyersburg, Tenn., and laid to rest by the side of her husband who had preceded her in death a number of years. On the same day of the above event, Mrs. Bratcher, mother of Mr. Sam Mason and Mrs. John King, died at the home of Mr. King here in town. She had cancer of the mouth and was 82 years old. She was taken to Grayson county and buried beside her husband. Both corpses were at the depot at the same time, one to be taken north and the other south.

Mrs. Florence Alford bought the home of Mr. Sam H. Taylor on South Main street last week, the consideration being $1,300. Mrs. Alford made the trade for her daughter, Mrs. Charlie Williams. Mr. and Mrs. Williams live at Stone, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stillwell and children, of Louisville, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Young last week.

Rev. Birch Shields, who was called to the pastorate of West Point church, made his first trip to that church last Saturday. He is well pleased with the outlook and thinks with the help of the Lord he can do a good work in that field.

CLEAR RUN.

Dec. 6.—Rev. R. E. Fuqua and wife returned home Saturday from the series of meetings that closed at Red Hill Friday night. He filled his regular appointment at this place Saturday and Sunday. They report a successful meeting at Red Hill, assisted by Rev. Z. Ferrel.

Mr. James Kirk went to Owensboro last week with a load of tobacco.

Mr. J. T. Funk is very sick of la-grippe.

Mr. J. T. Funk and sons have twelve ears of corn that weigh 16½ pounds. Who can beat that?

KAISER CALLS ON LAST OF REGULAR RESERVES

Rotterdam, Dec. 7.—Berlin papers publish the following proclamation to-day:

"I, William, by God's grace, German Kaiser and King of Prussia, command the following changes in conscript:

"That all those members of the Landsturm who were not called out by command of August 15 are now called up, every one of them.

"All the men in the country are called upon to report themselves not later than December 20, and those Germans who are in foreign countries must either, by writing or orally, report themselves to the nearest representative of the German Government."

This is the last call for Germany's regular reserves. After them come the extra reserves of the classes of 1914 and 1915 and then the volunteers.

Who Wants It?

Paris, Dec. 7.—The throne of Egypt is going begging. Great Britain and the native Government are finding it impossible to induce any of the native Princes to accept it.

Prince Hussain Pasha and Prince Fund, uncles of the Khedive, have both declined.

It is now proposed to make the country a separate kingdom, independent of Turkey, but under British protection, and then see if the throne finds any takers in the Khedival family under the new conditions.
